What Is Attention to Autism?

At school, we love using approaches that spark joy, curiosity, and communication — and Attention Autism is one of the most exciting and engaging programmes we use to support all children's attention and interaction skills.

So, what is Attention Autism?
Attention Autism is a structured, playful approach designed to develop children's ability to focus, shift attention, and share experiences with others. It was created by specialist speech and language therapist Gina Davies and is widely used in schools to help children build vital attention and communication skills in a fun, low-pressure way.

What does it involve?
The programme is delivered in stages, each designed to nurture a specific skill:

1. Stage 1 – The Bucket
   A bucket filled with irresistible, exciting objects! This stage is all about capturing attention and sparking curiosity.
2. Stage 2 – The Attention Builder
   An engaging, visually stimulating activity demonstrated by an adult — such as bubbles, foam, water, colours, or simple science fun. Children simply watch and enjoy.
3. Stage 3 – Turn-Taking & Participation
   Each child gets a chance to take part in the activity. This helps build confidence, communication, and shared enjoyment.
4. Stage 4 – Shifting Attention
   More complex, multi-step activities help children practise moving their attention between items and people.

Why do we use Attention Autism?
Because it supports children in a way that feels fun and at the same time natural. It helps them:

- Develop their attention and focus
- Learn to share enjoyment with others
- Build communication skills
- Engage in learning with curiosity and excitement
- Boost confidence through structured, positive interactions

Most importantly, it's fun — and when learning feels fun, children are more motivated, relaxed, and ready to grow.
Want further information follow the links...Site is undergoing maintenance  Attention Autism - YouTube  Attention Autism
If you'd like to know more about how we use Attention Autism in school or see a session in action, we'd be delighted to share.
Together, we're helping every child shine brightly in their own way. 🌈✨